The Ontario power generation sector is entering a phase of rapid development like never before. Thousands of megawatts are due to be built or replaced at a pace unparalleled in Canadian history.

- * How will the new supply mix rules affect development?
- * The options for addressing NIMBYism
- * Is a long-term vision still necessary?
- * What regulators and government can do to encourage investment

Addressing the critical issues of the day, delivering must-know data directly from the source, and helping you make key business contacts.

You won't want to miss APPrO 2006!

Sign up now for what is sure to be a very rewarding event.
